INTRODUCTION.

We are pleased to offer in this sale a small but choice series of the coins of Mexico, Central and South America, which includes some remarkable pieces both in gold and silver, a few of which we believe have not been offered at auction in a great many years, if at all.

We have also catalogued in this sale a further selection of coins, with some of the greatest rarities in the United States series included, from the cabinet of a Prominent American. Following are some of the features of the sale:—

A series of seven different medals pertaining to John Law and his Mississippi Company. This is the largest collection of these excessively rare medals ever sold in this country, in fact, the only duplicates we have seen of any of these medals are in the cabinet of the American Numismatic society. They are all of the greatest rarity and we consider of exceptional interest to students of American History.

Mexico. Rare Proclamation pieces of Guadalajara, Oaxaca, Tuxtla, Zacatecas, Zamora, etc.

Guatemala. Excessively rare gold Proclamation Piece of Charles IV. Offered for the first time in any auction sale.

Brazil. Splendid specimen of the 20,000 reis piece.

Peru. Excessively rare gold medal commemorating the victory of General Simon Bolivar over the Spaniards at Ayacucho.

United States Coins. Silver Dollars. The excessively rare Trade Dollar of 1872 of which only five specimens were struck.

The remarkable Dollar of 1878 being the last type of trial piece before the adoption of the dies. Only two specimens are known.

Half Dollars. Uncirculated specimen of 1797. One of the very few specimens known in this condition.

Quarter Dollar. Restrike of 1827 in copper. Only three specimens known.

Half Dime. The finest known specimen of 1802. The coin in practically uncirculated condition. One of the gems of American Numismatics.

Three Dollar Pieces. Beautiful specimens of 1854D, 1873 and 1876.

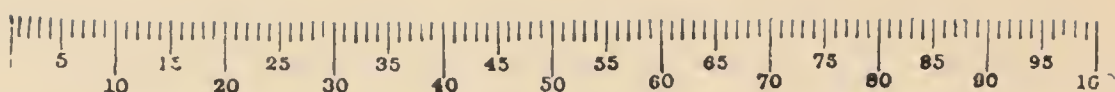

Quarter Eagles. A splendid specimen of 1796 and the excessively rare 1878 Pattern piece struck in gold of which only two specimens are known.

We have prepared a special edition of this catalogue to contain either two or three photographic plates of the rarest pieces. Price fifty cents.

We trust that collectors interested will try to attend the sale personally but if unable to do so bids will be carefully executed by the cataloguers.

The sizes of coins and medals in this catalogue given in millimetres.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. The highest bidder to be the buyer, and in case of any dispute the lot to be immediately resold.

2. This sale is for cash, the lots to be taken away at the buyer's expense directly after the sale.

3. Coins are sold at so much per piece and no lot can be separated. The auctioneer will accept any bid up to 50c, then 5c to $2.50, 10c to $10.00, when 25c will be the smallest advance accepted.

4. If you are unable to attend the sale in person yours bids will be carefully executed by the cataloguers, with a charge of 5 per cent. on the lots purchased. No charge less than 25c.

5. Persons unknown to us must send first-class references or a deposit to cover 25 per cent. of their bids; otherwise they will not be accepted.

6. All coins sold are guaranteed genuine, which guarantee holds good indefinitely.

7. A priced catalogue will be sent after the sale for $1.00 cash with order.

MEDALS PERTAINING TO JOHN LAW'S
MISSISSIPPI COMPANY.

LVE

28 1720 Law standing, holding ship in left hand and scroll in right hand inscribed LOUISIANA EST EST BANCO ET MONETA. (Louisiana is a bank and is a mint) In field to l. a cave tenanted by Envy, who is regarding Law and screening and tearing her hair with rage. Fame flying above. R Long Latin inscription translation of which follows: Envy--You allure those who seek for wealth by the sale of a vain hope. Praise--That which is true although it may be now hidden some time will come to life. Envy--You sell mountains of gold; you possess only brass. Law--Whatever there is under earth, time will bring it to life. Horace Epistle I;6. The Author--Malice feeds upon the living, after death it rests; then every man's character is esteemed to his particular deserts. Ovid, Arts of Love, I; 15. Struck at Strasburg in 1720. Pewter. Betts II. Alexi I. Ex. fine.

29 1720 German inscription in 13 lines, translated--"Paris--West Indian Louisiana Company; shares or bank bills, each of 500 livres or 166 2/3 Thalers, to pay interest to be attached. In the end it will be seen whose tone is to prevail." R Inscription translated--"So Law assures us, and says 'Thus I believe, and not otherwise.' Many however, say with doubting Thomas, 'I believe it not by a great deal.' All depends on luck and on the time." Pewter. Betts IX. Very fine.

30 1720 A man in court dress examining a quantity of bills at his right through a magnifying glass; his left hand pointing toward a chest of coined money. German inscription translated--"The magnifying glass serves here so many ends that even the knowing ones allow themselves to be blinded by the lust of money. The shares are a trick and a fraud." R Man hanging from dead tree on the bank of stream, another has plunged into the stream, two others are leaving at either side. Inscription translated—"The play is now found out, the leaf is turned, and the swindle comes to a terrible end. The whole world is a monument to the folly of the time." Copper. Betts XXI. Alexi VIII. Ex. fine.

4 31 In the field an empty hat, wig and coat, seen from the rear. Inscription translated—(Now you see it now you don't.) R A man lying face downward on the ground grasping in his right hand the caduceus of Mercury (god of merchants) and in his left a package of bank notes. Inscription—"Credit is as dead as a mouse." Silver. Betts. XXV. Fine.

5 32 Same obverse as preceding. R Similar but package in man's hand marked "Wexel Briefe." (Bill of exchange). Silver. Betts XXVI. Fine.

6 33 Similar to preceding, but shows slight die variety. Silver. Betts. XXVII. About perfect.

7 34 Two soldiers of the guard facing each other, one holds his hat before his face and whispers to the other. Inscription translated—"Money is the watchword, but." R An old man in cocked hat and long loose coat stands facing; he holds in his left hand a purse from which, through a hole, coins are dropping to the ground; with his right hand he points to the purse. Inscription—"As it comes so it goes. Nothing is left over." Silver. Betts XXXII About perfect.

 149 1872 Trade Dollar. Liberty as an Indian Queen seated to l. Barber's copy of the Longacre design of the previous year. R UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Within wreath—TRADE DOLLAR. 420 GRAINS. 900 FINE. On ribbon—IN GOD WE TRUST. This coin is listed in Adams-Woodin Pattern work as 1244 and there were only five specimens struck, it is therefore as rare as the 1885 Trade Dollar. Brilliant proof. Of the greatest rarity and interest. The first time offered at public sale. See plate. 275-

- 30 — 150 1873 Trade Dollar. Liberty seated to l. on globe, plough behind with long, large handles. R Eagle with shield. The obverse of this coin is the same as that illustrated by Adams-Woodin 1334 and the reverse under 1328. Plain edge. Brilliant proof. Extremely rare.
- 8 — 151 1873 Trade Dollar. Similar figure of Liberty but the plough has shorter and smaller handles. R Eagle with shield, slightly differing from preceding. Struck in white metal. Adams-Woodin 1322. Plain edge. Uncirculated. Very rare.
- 30 — 152 1877 Dollar. Head of Liberty to l. with long pointed diadem resembling a sailor's hat. R 1 DOLLAR in wreath. Struck in copper. Not known in silver. Adams-Woodin 1504. Proof. Extremely rare.
- 500 — 153 1878 The adopted obverse design combined with a reverse which was evidently slightly changed, the formation of the wreath is different and only a small number of berries are used where there are a large number on the adopted design. We quote the following from Adams-Woodin under 1561—

"Undoubtedly the above piece represents the very first design of the Standard Dollar showing nine leaves in the olive branch. Apparently, when it was decided to abandon the olive branch with three leaves, the above design was produced, for the envelope which contained the piece stated that it was 'one of three struck for Director to decide whether design was all right!' It therefore represents the first issue of the design showing the eagle with seven feathers in the tail and with nine leaves on the olive branch, and it is unquestionably a pattern for it differs materially from the other variety showing seven feathers in the tail. * * * * But, most important of all, and a fact that points most conclusively to the piece being a pattern, is that the tiny letter M which appears on all other varieties of the Standard Dollar—on bow knot on the reverse—is omitted from the above piece."

While there are three specimens said to have been struck of this coin there are only two known, the other being in the collection of Mr. William H. Woodin of this city. We consider the piece of the greatest rarity and interest. The coin is a brilliant proof. See plate.
